PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

Backend & ERP Developer building production integrations on Odoo, Frappe, and ERPNext, backed by Python/FastAPI services and PostgreSQL/MySQL data layers. A Bachelor of Commerce in Accounting gives an edge most backend developers lack: the ability to read a sales-order-to-invoice-to-ledger cycle directly from the accounting side and translate it into correct, production-grade code instead of guessing at the business logic. Currently building an ERPNext-integrated e-commerce platform end to end — order automation, invoicing, delivery logistics, and real-time sync with Telegram and Google Sheets — combining hands-on accounting judgment with backend engineering.
